

The mind of the Great Sage of India was intimately
Conveyed from west to east.

Among human beings are wise ones and fools,
But in the Way there is no northern or southern Ancestor.

The subtle source is clear and bright;

The tributary streams flow through the darkness.

To be attached to things is illusion;

To encounter the absolute is not yet enlightenment.